

NOT WORKERS OF SALVATION ARMY

Appearance of Gospel Workers Near Mannington Causes Misunderstandings.

Reports that members of the Gospel Workers have been mistaken for Salvation Army workers have been received here by Capt. Alfred Carr, who is in charge of the local corps of the Salvation Army. This confusion, according to reports received here, has resulted in several misunderstandings, particularly in the vicinity of Farmington and Mannington.

The Gospel Workers, whose khaki uniforms resemble those of the Salvation Army, are in no way affiliated with the Salvation Army. Captain Carr pointed out today, "Their headquarters, it is reported, is in Clarksville. Captain Carr emphasized that Salvation Army workers only wear blue uniforms."

Captain Carr also declared today that reports that part of the funds raised by the Salvation Army was sent to England were without foundation. "Absolutely no funds go to any foreign country except those raised during the one week of missionary efforts held each year, 'Self-Denial Week,' when one-half of the money goes for the purpose collected," Captain Carr declared.

FAIRVIEW

"Heliotope."

According to an announcement made last evening, the Paramount production, "Heliotope," will be shown in the high school auditorium tomorrow evening. This picture is creating much interest among local moving picture fans and it is likely that the largest crowd of the season will be present for the first showing at 7:45 o'clock.

Basketball Outlook.

If numbers mean anything, Fairview High School will have one of the strongest basketball teams in its history. Fourteen candidates reported yesterday evening for first team practice, while each class will be represented by six to ten candidates who know something about this sport. It is probable that as many as forty or fifty boys will participate in basketball practice this season which will make the problem of selecting the first team men very difficult.

From the list of candidates reporting, it was difficult to select even a mythical team to represent the school during the season. Perhaps many try-outs will be made before Coach Copp can select the men for the High School quintet. Underwood and N. Michael are the only ones of last year's veterans who will try for this year's team. Underwood towers above the six foot mark and will likely hold down the pivotal position with Dodd and McCon. He will likely be first choice for guard positions with O'Dell and Weyer, giving them a close race.

Michael should have little trouble in retaining his forward position with M. Wilson as the probable colleague. Mitchell, Freeland, Toothman and McElroy will contest these positions and may nose out some of the more experienced players. Toothman plays center and forward equally well being both a speedy floor man and an accurate shot. While the outlook for a championship team is not so bright as in former years, it is believed that Fairview will make a fair showing this year. A class league has been arranged which will include as its players those who are unable to make the first string.

To Clarksville.
Coach J. F. Copp will go to Clarksville Saturday to the meeting of the Monongahela Athletic Association where a basketball schedule will be worked out. The number of games scheduled this year prior to the tournament will be limited to fifteen or twenty, according to an announcement made by Coach Copp recently. The girls' basketball will not make out a schedule until the boys have finished their Riverdale Annex.

According to an announcement made last evening by Principal Speicher of the Riverdale High School, the new building at Riverdale will be ready for school work at the end of next week. The carpenters are busy in putting the finishing touches on the gymnasium and will have it ready for Riverdale basketball team to open practice by the beginning of the following week. Principal Speicher, who will also coach basketball, believes that he will have the best team in the history of the school. He has already scheduled with the Fairview High School with both boys and girls to open his season at home the latter part of this month. Miss Okareda Ketterman will coach the girls' team. The Riggs Brothers, Post, Lewis and Straight who played with the team last year will play again this year, and with the added experience should develop into a fighting aggregation. Joe Sheranko, the speedy forward on last year's team, will likely play with the Fairmont Normal this year and should add material strength to that team.
